Dear friends,

Wake up the world! Be witnesses of a different way of doing things, acting, living! It is possible to live differently in this world. –Pope Francis

This spring the Intercommunity Peace and Justice Center began the celebration of our 25 years of ministry with humble and grateful hearts for the trust you have placed in us over the years. In partnership with you we have just begun to realize the many dreams we have for our church and world. We invite you to read our annual report and celebrate the ways we are acting together to create the just and peaceful world and inclusive church we envision.

Be witnesses of a different way...
We took Pope Francis to heart when we:
- Heard Ilia Delio, OSF speak on Catholicity and the call to wholeness in the spirit of Pope Francis
- Engaged 43 corporations on social and environmental responsibility
- Created a primer and action guide on sustainability
- Heeded the call to listen and act in solidarity with immigrants in our bilingual community dialogues

Wake up the World!
We know that people are eager to wake up the world when they download over 136,000 resources from our website. Help us increase our resource capacity! We see young people full of hope. Support the expansion of the Justice Cafés! We have changed corporate policy on human trafficking! Together with you we can end human trafficking! Immigrant women and children are strengthening our communities. Let’s work with them in serving the common good!

It is possible...
We invite you to take out the enclosed envelope and share a dream that together we can make possible!

When you return your envelope:
- Pray in thanksgiving that this is our moment in time to participate in a different way of acting and living
- Become a witness to the possible with a donation or regular pledge
- Wake up the world by partnering, participating, volunteering or investing significantly in one program

The time is now to invest in a bold new way for the next 25 years. We must dream big! We are being beckoned to new horizons, calling all of us to give all that is possible for the sake of people on the periphery and a renewed Earth Community. We thank our God for you, our IPJC community and collaborators who give us hope to go forth in courage to live differently in this world!

With gratitude,

Vision
The Intercommunity Peace and Justice Center, living out of a shared Catholic faith tradition, recognizes and respects the dignity of all persons and all of creation.

Mission
The Intercommunity Peace and Justice Center acts for justice in the church and the world.

Catholic Advocacy Day
IPJC made 131 appointments for the 600 people who met with their legislators to advocate for justice, housing, and services on behalf of those who are on the margins. Ten buses made it possible for people to travel together, have fun and bring their faith to light in the public square.

Catholicity and Conscious Evolution: The Vision of Pope Francis
A capacity crowd of 350 participated in a workshop led by Ilia Delio, OSF on Catholicity and the call to wholeness! Sr. Ilia addressed revitalizing Christianity in an evolutionary universe by focusing on Catholicity and nature, the human person, Jesus and the institutionalization of the Catholic church.

Spokane Eastern Washington Legislative Day
IPJC presented the Keynote and a legislative toolkit at the annual ecumenical gathering at St. Mark’s Lutheran Church.

Latino Legislative Day
We work in partnership with agencies around the State to ensure the Latino voice is represented to our State legislators.

You’ve brought vibrant new thought to us...Ilia’s presentation was nearly electric! —Judy
Community Dialogues

We launched new statewide organizing efforts among immigrants and Spanish-speaking people to address emerging issues and advocate for the common good. Community Dialogues took place in 5 counties and were conducted in Spanish and English.

¡Conoce tus Derechos!

Over 100 people participated in an interactive workshop presented in Spanish. The key features of the Know Your Rights! workshop included:

- Addressing fear of deportation
- Practical skills for navigating U.S. Immigration Customs & Enforcement (ICE) encounters and raids
- Long-range planning for care of families and communities

Presentations

IPJC provided 47 presentations on a diversity of topics this year, including:

- Sustainability
- Corporate Responsibility
- Human Trafficking
- Immigration
- Advocacy
- Spirituality and Justice
- Simplicity
- Peacemaking
- Mercy and Justice

Our presentations, retreats, and facilitation take place in universities; in Catholic, ecumenical, and interfaith places of worship; among groups in the non-profit and non-sectarian sectors; at elementary and high schools; and with religious communities.

Thanks for your excellent presentation on the pervasive problems of our world and church!

NWCRI Shareholder Resolutions included:

Alphabet/Google
Children's right to privacy and food marketing to youth on the YouTube Kids App was withdrawn for dialogue.

Chevron
Impacts on water and communities in the Company's hydraulic fracturing operations was supported by 27% of shareholders.

ExxonMobil
The moral imperative to limit global warming to 2°C was supported by 19% of shareholders. Board member(s) with a high level of climate change expertise and experience was supported by 21% of shareholders.

GEO Group
Report on human rights training in detention centers and process for identifying human rights abuses and steps taken to improve performance was supported by 18% of shareholders.

Kroger
Assessment of potential and actual human rights risks in the supply chain was supported by 25% of shareholders.

Good News!

Year of Encouraging Progress on Climate Change: 2015-16

175 Nations Signed the Paris Agreement on April 22

Juliana v, the US—In April a judge denied motions to dismiss the historic lawsuit brought by 21 children against the government and fossil fuel industry for violating children's constitutional and public trust rights by promoting use of fossil fuels.

Motivated by the urgent need for action on climate change and the Paris Agreement, Interfaith Center on Corporate Responsibility members filed a record 91 resolutions addressing climate change.

Campbell
Campbell will become the first major food company to begin disclosing genetically engineered ingredients. About three-quarters of its products contain ingredients derived from corn, canola, soybeans or sugar beets, the four largest genetically engineered crops.

Over the past five years NWCRI has assisted Hyatt in addressing human trafficking. Recently on NPR's Marketplace Brigitta Witt, who is Global Head of Corporate Responsibility for Hyatt Hotels, said that she was introduced to the issue by "...a group of socially responsible investors [NWCRI] that were really looking at the hospitality industry as an area of potential intersection with human trafficking." Hyatt has trained 55,000 staff all over the world and it is now a Hyatt brand standard for hotels to implement training on labor and sex trafficking.
Justice for Women

Justice for Women is a grassroots movement for social justice and systemic change, especially for women living in poverty.

Sedro-Woolley

Latino parents in Sedro-Woolley, where their students make up 20 percent of the school population, addressed the need for Spanish language resources and school navigation support systems. The Circle succeeded in getting a Spanish version of the Strengthening Families parenting program implemented in their rural community.

Connell

The Circle in rural central Washington, concerned about youth and drugs, organized a successful campaign to ban Cannabis sales in the city. The women brought 75 community members to the city council, who voted unanimously in favor of the women’s recommendation.

Billings, Montana

At Angela’s Piazza, a safe haven for urban Native American women, the Circle focused on the next generation of women in its community by creating anti-violence and anti-poverty resources for teens.

Tacoma

At the Tahoma Indian Center, a day center for urban Native Americans, the Justice Circle focused on access to wellness activities. The women are seeking to partner with the Puyallup Tribe for use of the Tribal Elder Center facilities.

New Brunswick, NJ

Because immigrant children in overcrowded housing is an area of concern, the Circle created Niños con Esperanza, a 12-session series which engaged children in art and cultural activities to develop self-esteem and cultivate a sense of security and creativity. The women funded the series by selling tamales.

Mt. Vernon

Latina women were eager to assist the community in finding a path to affordable home ownership for Latinos, including those who may be undocumented. The Circle leadership is now bringing together North Coast Credit Union, Centro de la Raza, Goodwill and Community Land Trust representatives to do workshops in Spanish on budgets, banking and home ownership qualifications and processes.

Spokane

Women with families at the Transitional Living Center are working to change the law related to prior criminal records that prevent women from working with children or volunteering in their children’s schools. The women met with legislators and family law attorneys to create a strategy to have the law applied on a case-by-case basis instead of an automatic ban. The women had a first-step win with the passage of the Certificate of Restoration of Opportunity Bill.

Sunnyside

The Latina women invited local Hispanic leaders to partner with them to develop their skills for civic engagement. The Circle held forums for the community that featured elected officials and media representatives.

I have learned that when powerful women get together to find a way to change something, there is no stopping them. —Lisa
